

Qorrah For specialized training

- Project brief:

Qorrah is a website that serves as a platform dedicated to provide a link between students who are looking for specialized training in their field of expertise or their studies with companies and institutions that have training vacancies.

The website will be the first reference for anyone who is about to graduate from the university, because Qorrah contains all the university training that is compatible with the conditions of university training in each major and students can apply for them on the website.

Also, any person who wants a Specialized training in his major. Because it contains all training from institutions that have vacancies as full-time, part-time, paid or not-paid training, where the job description and the required qualifications are displayed in each vacancy and whoever sees himself suitable for it can submit an application directly on the site.
